Seventeenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Luke 11 : 1—13

We have many forms of prayer, from liturgical to sacramental, to private, to communal. The Lord practiced them all but his most favorite was spending time alone communing with His Father.

Catholic Morals to Gambling (Part 2 of 3)

Once a few States allowed gambling but today more States join the business. A $100 billion business. The Church does not consider gambling immoral unless it robs families to provide for their needs and responsibilities in life. Money that is lost and affects others rights because of gambling is immoral, selfish and criminal.

Annulments (Part 1 of 2)

Many Catholic think of annulments as divorce or a compassionate pass to a second marriage. For an annulment to be granted, one is incapable of entering into a deep loving relationship that is required by a sacramental marriage from the beginning because of psychological or mental issues. The Church is trying to be merciful, but also to uphold the teachings of Christ.

Plan for your final days

Sounds ghoulish but this is adult maturity. Your life, your will.

1. Get your legal papers completed
2. Hire an attorney
3. Get your will or trust finalized
4. Sign your health directives
5. Choose your cemetery
6. Choose cremation or not
7. Organize your funeral Mass, readings, etc.
8. Which parish will you use. Which funeral home. Which priest or bishop. Which flower shop
9. What music or readings at the liturgy you want
10. What casket

Your children will thank you.

Book (might be of interest)

“Uprooted” by Grace Olmstead. We leave our roots, where we grow up and move to new cities. The desire not to lose our roots yet to move for financial success is the cost to losing out rootedness and the price we pay for this.

Parish

Parish School of Religion (PSR) or CCD will begin late September. We are always looking for help in this essential parish program, especially teachers. Call the office, 415-479-1560, if interested.
