Twelfth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Eleventh Sunday in Ordinary Time

Matthew 9 : 36 - 10 : 8

It seems Jesus made a ritual in the sending forth of the twelve apostles, almost like an ordination, except for the inclusion of the Eucharist not yet instituted. He called them by name. He preached to them, instructed them, prayed over them, and sent them out in his name. The ordination of Catholic priests follows this biblical ritual which Christ himself used at the first sending out.

Pope Leo XIV

Using the words of Saint John Chrysostom 1,600 years ago, “Almsgiving remains the means of contact, encounter, and empathy with the poor.” There is no greater way to serve those living in poverty than the prayer of almsgiving.

Saint Joseph

The scandal of family life today is 25% of fathers are not involved in family life. They are absent. That is 1 in 4 children never see their father. A culture of renegeing of sacred responsibilities. Saint Joseph never speaks a word in all of Scripture. But his presence is deeply felt in his family. He is profoundly involved in all their lives, Mary and Jesus, and faces all the challenges that strike his family. He does not run away. He faces challenges, confusion and situations not under his control. Yet he does not strike out in anger or self pity. He is faithful to his commitments. He works, protects and provides. He is a loving father. Saint Joseph is a model of fatherhood.
